Educating and Counseling Males on Sexual & Reproductive Health Issues

Wednesday, February 13, 2008
12:00 - 1:30 pm (Pacific Standard Time)
Audio Conference

In This Training

This audio conference will identify issues and barriers for males that influence their sexual and reproductive health care. Participants will learn how to more effectively address males' sexual and reproductive health concerns as well as learn communication strategies to counsel males.

At the end of this audio conference, the participant will be able to:

- Identify at least two barriers for male sexual and reproductive health (SRH) care utilization;
- Demonstrate at least two strategies to counsel males about SRH issues.

Who Should Attend

Family planning staff who provide services to males.

Trainer

David L. Bell, M.D. is Assistant Clinical Professor at Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health. Dr. Bell provides direct service to adolescents and young adults and has been the medical director of the Young Men's Clinic since 1999. He is a strong advocate for the right of young men to have access to respectful services that address their sexual and reproductive health care concerns.

Center for Health Training

Funded by state and federal grants for twenty-nine years, The Center for Health Training (CHT) specializes in offering education to health care providers in a variety of settings. Using needs assessments, provider meetings, and personal contacts, CHT tailors training and technical assistance to encourage staff development and improve agency effectiveness.

Registration

Please send in the registration form by the deadline to ensure a space in this workshop. Do not hesitate to register now; payment need not be sent with registration. If payment is sent later, please include name(s) of registrant or a copy of the registration form(s), so proper credit can be given. You can also register online at: www.centerforhealthtraining.org.

Confirmation

Confirmations will be mailed to the caller 5 days prior to the audioconference and will include detailed instructions on accessing the call. The caller will also receive one set of the handouts, evaluation, continuing education forms, participant sign-in sheet, and follow-up instructions. The caller will need to duplicate the necessary forms for all participants sharing the same phone line. For more information about registration, call Brad Griebenow at 510.835.3700 x111.

Fees

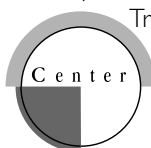

All fees are per person. Title X-funded agencies: $25; Private/Other funding: $45. CE units are an additional $10. See front panel for more info on CE Units.
